

AP Human Geography Summer Assignment

Google Classroom Code: asmqf3s

Mrs. Carmody
marilyn-carmody@nova-faculty.org

Advanced Placement curriculum is meant to give you an idea of what a college-level experience is like. Many college classes today involve technology, online message board discussions, and submit work electronically. Although the Google Classroom provides the documentation in this course, I will also supply paper copies throughout the year.

Human Geography is a very diverse course, involving a wide range of topics. This summer assignment will help (1) prepare you for this yearlong course, and (2) participate in class discussion and worksheet the first week of school. Additionally, this assignment is graded.

I am handing out paper copies and emailing the summer assignment for easy access. These documents can also be found in Google Classroom (code above) and the school website (<https://www.nova-academy.org/santaana/>). For those of you who are new to NOVA, you do not yet have a Nova student email and are unable to access Google Classroom. If you are a current student, you do have access and can turn in the assignment through Google Classroom. Paper copies are also available at the front office.

Over the summer, I will regularly check my email to help in any way. I should respond within 24 hours, providing I am in an area with cell/internet service.

Directions: Answer each question in full and complete sentences approximately one paragraph each.

Format: You may handwrite or type your answers. You do not need to rewrite the question, just the question number. If handwritten, include your name and the name of the specific assignment (i.e., Globalization) at the beginning of your responses. If typed, double-spaced, 12-point font.

Due Date: No later than the first day of class. However, you may email your assignment or turn it into Google Classroom anytime over the summer.

Assignments: The summer assignment contains two articles and one video (Globalization and The Geography of Gender - article and video) which relate to a few units we will study throughout the year. When answering the questions, please try not to heavily quote. Additionally, when quoting you must provide the proper punctuation.